Reporting and Health Packages

Reporting and health packages

Everyone can benefit from BUPA Positive Health.<sup>1</sup> Six months after your employees start tapping into better health online, you can access reports on your industry sector and geographical region. These could highlight common health issues, such as stress or sleep problems, helping you to adopt a targeted, proactive approach to help reduce health risks.

We can also enhance your standard package with...

- additional licenses for non-insured employees, and employees' family members or dependents can be purchased
- on-site launches - we can introduce BUPA Positive Health to your employees with a choice of motivational giveaways and incentives (costs will vary depending on quantities)

Companies with at least 50 registered BUPA Positive Health users (who have taken the health and wellbeing assessment) can also purchase:

- bespoke company reports - an invaluable insight into the health of your workforce and the opportunity to identify problem health issues. These will be available after three and nine months. For an example report visit www.bupa.co.uk/positivehealth
- a range of health packages to help you tackle health issues. There are many options available, including:
  - email and poster campaigns to highlight and address relevant health issues
  - promotional items and giveaways for employees
  - a host of exciting health promotions, including seminars and workshops
