

Corporate dental services

Dental problems can lead to frequent periods away from work. Regular examinations by a Bupa dentist can help prevent problems and reduce absenteeism.

Whether an employee is after cosmetic dentistry, a routine visit, or emergency treatment - they don't have to be a Bupa member to benefit as our dental services are open to everyone. Our experienced dentists will provide your staff with the appropriate dental care that they require.

Bupa dental care can be funded wholly or partly by your company or made available on a self-pay basis. If staff already have dental insurance, it is possible that self-pay costs could be claimed back, which could mean little or no cost to your employees or your company.

Our dentists

All our practitioners work within industry recognised protocols and undergo regular internal clinical audits and assessments. They also participate in ongoing clinical education and professional development courses, all of which meet the mandatory requirements of the General Dental Council.

Our dentists are highly experienced and able to provide the most up-to-date cosmetic and general dental procedures.

On-site dental services

The Dental Box

A fully transportable, rapidly assembled and comprehensive dental surgery. It is typically used as a short-term solution while other service deployments are being explored or developed.

Fixed on-site surgeries

Where you already have facilities for on-site medical care, we can set up and operate a fixed surgery in which dentists and specialists can all operate.

'Employed' dentist

As organisations, at present, are not able to retain their own dentists, we can employ a dentist on your behalf, allowing you to offer dentistry to your staff at subsidised rates.

“ More than a third of employers believe offering dental benefits gives a clear return in terms of staff productivity and health. ”

Our range of dental services

Bupa oral health assessment

Our advanced preventive dental health assessment is available alongside more conventional treatment and consultations. The assessment delivers a thorough examination of the entire mouth and surrounding areas to identify existing or potential problems. A treatment plan is developed which demonstrates how to maintain oral health.

Traditional care

All of our dentists are able to provide comprehensive care, from routine fillings to more complex problems.

Cosmetic dentistry

We offer the latest types of cosmetic dentistry treatments and care, including teeth whitening, tooth-coloured restorations, veneers and implants.

Specialist treatment

One of the advantages of our service at our Centre of Excellence at Bank in the City of London is that both the specialists and dentists are available on the same site and can provide comprehensive patient care.

Endodontists (root treatment), oral surgeons, periodontists (gum treatment), orthodontists (tooth straightening) and implant specialists are in-house resources that our dentists can refer to when certain treatments require specialist care.

In-depth examinations

Examinations include extra-oral and intra-oral examinations, gum assessments, teeth examinations and X-rays.

Hygienist

As a vital part of preventive care and maintaining healthy gums, our hygienists provide scaling, cleaning and advice about looking after teeth and gums at home.

Facial aesthetics

Non-surgical facial aesthetics can safely and subtly enhance appearance. These are a combination of either dermal fillers or anti-wrinkle injections, that help reduce the appearance of wrinkles and help make the skin look smoother and more youthful.

Snoring solutions

We carry out a full assessment and provide solutions for snoring problems.

Inman Aligner

As well as conventional orthodontic treatments we are able to straighten front teeth fast using the Inman Aligner.

The Inman Aligner is a simple, hassle-free way of straightening front teeth in a matter of weeks. The treatment works without needing fixed or clear braces.
