

Private GP and nurse services

Bupa has a nationwide network of Doctor centres, however many employers prefer the added convenience of a doctor being available on the company premises.

Whether your employees are looking to use our GP service for routine medical requirements, or just occasionally for advice, we provide appointments of 15 minutes or longer, often for the same day.

A Bupa doctor would seek to understand the type of organisational care you have and any particular occupational health issues that your employees may face - such as stress or back pain. Problems can therefore be quickly diagnosed and addressed. When necessary, employees can be referred to fast-track specialist treatment - normally resulting in faster recovery times and shorter periods of sickness absence.

While respecting patient confidentiality, the doctor can also work with the company's occupational health or HR teams to help prevent further illness and ensure a timely and appropriate return to work.

“ Between 2007 and 2008, we collected lost time savings data relating to the services provided by our on-site teams at just four clients and found savings of £440,000 ”

A total of 22,000 hours saved, self reported, cost saved based on an average £30k salary per employee.

On-site GP and nurse

Bupa Wellness provides on-site medical services for more than 500 organisations in many different industries. Instead of visiting their own GP or a Bupa Wellness Centre, your employees will be able to see a doctor who is based at the company's premises. This reduces the need to take time off, offering a convenient and accommodating solution to staff, whilst increasing productivity and causing less disruption to the working day.

Why Bupa?

- Instead of visiting their own GP, your employees will be able to see a doctor based near or at their place of work.
- We select the practitioners with care, ensuring that they have high levels of clinical expertise to develop an insight into your work and employees' culture.
- Medical staff can liaise closely with your occupational health or human resources teams with the aim of ensuring your needs are understood and met.
- We have been providing doctors to organisations for over 20 years.
- As part of our service we will maintain continuity with the care provided by your employees' own GPs. With their permission we will write to the GP giving details of the consultation when requested.

Our range of GP and nurse services

Consultations and prescriptions for acute illness

A Bupa doctor will provide routine examination, diagnosis and treatment for all general illness and health concerns.

Repeat prescriptions

Employees can get repeat prescriptions quickly and easily, meaning time required away from work is reduced.

Consultant referrals

If further treatment is required, our doctors will refer employees for specialist treatment based on their own or your organisation's healthcare plan.

Travel advice

If travelling abroad, employees can seek information about any aspect of their journey which may impact their health. Such factors may include climate, disease, accessibility and security. Our Bupa nurses can make recommendations to ensure employees are prepared when travelling.

Vaccinations

Bupa nurses can provide preventive medication that will offer important protection to employees from serious illness when abroad.

Second opinions

If an employee is unhappy with a previous consultation, or if they simply want peace of mind - a Bupa doctor will provide a secondary consultation or diagnosis.

Lifestyle advice

Dietary, physical and mental guidance aimed to help employees remain healthy and achieve any personal goals.

Contraceptive advice

Our nurses will be able to offer important and impartial advice on issues surrounding family planning, birth control and choice of contraception.

Minor surgery

Specially trained doctors can assess and remove minor skin lesions (such as moles and warts) without needing referral to a specialist.

Bupa GP and nurse services can be offered as a stand alone service, or in conjunction with an integrated Bupa Wellness solution - including occupational health, dental care, musculo-skeletal services and health assessments.
